

ABSTRACT

A method is presented comprising receiving a data stream comprising timestamp information into a buffer, wherein the received data stream includes gaps, and generating an equalized reference clock from the received data stream by removing the gaps to facilitate equalized processing of the timestamp information received in a non-equalized data stream.

FOR "6845880"